Las Sendas Singer and Songwriter STRIKES A POSITIVE CHORD

By Kimberly Searles

For Las Sendas resident Jeff Senour, music isn't merely a hobby—it's a passion fueling him since childhood, and his five-piece band, Consider The Source (CTS) shares that passion with people of all ages nationwide.

"I formed CTS to inspire people of all ages to live their dreams," said Jeff. "I've been fortunate in my life so far to live my dreams, and I want others to know that if you work hard enough, you can make your dreams come true."

Jeff is a true example of the American dream. From Hollywood movie film pilots (True Lies, Executive Decision and Hot Shots to name a few credits) to Southwest Airline pilot, music is the dream he continues to chase. It's a dream that has earned CTS a Song of the Year award from the Military Writers Guild.

The core of CTS music is a positive message about life, treating others well and living your dreams. With a sound echoing the influence of Green Day and Matchbox 20, the positive messages abound in songs like Reach for the Sky and Snowball Express. The band performs across the country, in various venues, opening for numerous national artists. They also were featured in a Southwest Airlines commercial.

In September, Jeff and the other members of CTS traveled to Nashville to perform at the GoldStar 11 Mission concert, along with Music City Youth Orchestra. The concert was a fund-raiser for the American Fallen Warrior Memorial in Kansas City, Mo. During the concert, there was a display of two sculptures created from the World Trade Center's concrete slurry, created by Fort Myers artist Sandra Priest.

"We were excited about performing in Nashville to honor the memory of our American military heroes and the victims of 9/11," said Jeff. "Our band strongly believes in giving back to those who serve."

The desire to give back and inspire youth has led Jeff to create the Freedom Rock Experience (FRE). The multi-media FRE concert series features CTS performing on stage with high school orchestras. The goal is to assist school fund-raising efforts, while giving aspiring musicians a performance experience unlike any other. In the process, it also honors real American heroes, including military personnel, police, firefighters and teachers.

"I wanted to do something unique, and touch young people's lives in a positive way, through our music," Jeff said. "I was attending my daughter's orchestra recital when I thought of integrating high school or college orchestras into a rock concert experience with CTS. My ultimate goal is to inspire students to pursue their dreams."

Jeff and CTS perform all across the Valley in schools, such as Mountain View, Basha and Sandra Day O'Connor. They also performed at the National Association of Music Merchants Music Convention in Los Angeles, Calif., along with Yorba Linda and Esperanza high schools. Last March, they helped raise more than $5,000 for Mesquite High School.

Jeff notes that the Freedom Rock Experience offers schools a new twist on fund-raising, rather than the typical car washes and bake sales.

CTS also donates several of its hit songs from iTunes to charities, such as Snowball Express, honoring military widows and their children, and Be Responsible and Keep Everyone Safe (BRAKES). The charity of National Hot Rod Association Top Fuel Drag Racer Doug Herbert, BRAKES teaches teenagers about driver safety.

For Jeff, it's all about using his musical powers for good.

"I know firsthand that you can accomplish your dreams. It takes a lot of hard work, and it doesn't come easy, but once you're there, it's like nothing else." ■

Jeff Senour and CTS travel all over North America for various special events and concerts. Their Web site is ctsmusic.com, which contains band information, music and merchandise.

PUT YOUR BEST FACE FORWARD FOR HOLIDAY SEASON EVENTS

By Dawn Abbey

In this season of family gatherings and dazzling holiday parties, we all want to look fantastic, so put your best face forward by experiencing a relaxing facial or renewing peel.

Sandra Barbetta, co-owner with husband Cosmo, of Cosmos Salon and Day Spa, and her spa team have created an exciting array of holiday packages. They include treatments you can experience for yourself, or gift to a loved one at special discounted prices now through the end of January.

Pressed for time rushing around with holiday tasks, or getting ready for an event where you want to shine? Treat yourself to a Holiday Bliss Facial, Sandra suggests. It's a quick 45-minute experience designed to cleanse, exfoliate and hydrate your skin, leaving you with a holiday glow for only $65.

Has your teen been invited to a special dance or party, and is agonizing over a breakout? Cosmos aestheticians offer a $55 Teen Clean Facial, which treats the individual needs of teenage skin by cleansing, exfoliating and replenishing the facial skin, while targeting problematic areas with specialized products.

To really bring back luster and tightening to facial skin, Cosmos Peel and Rejuvenate gently removes dulling skin, followed by an application of rejuvenating serums for $95.

"Party dresses often reveal a little more daring décolleté than we are used to wearing," said Cosmos aesthetician Margaret Midlick. "I don't usually push a product, but the whole staff has noticed amazing results from a new PCA product called Perfecting Neck and Décolleté. PCA products are only available through plastic surgeons and licensed skin care professionals who have been specially trained to use them," she explained. "PCA claims visible results in lifting and firming of skin on the neck and chest in as little as one to five weeks. So, come in and see us now, and you can certainly flaunt that new dress by Christmas and New Year's Eve."

Other holiday packages available are Mistletoe Magic—a haircut and style, with a classic manicure and pedicure for $100, and All I Want for Christmas—a hydrating four-layer facial followed by a 60-minute Swedish massage for $155.

"The four-layer facial is amazing," Margaret promised. "It's everyone's favorite. It starts off with a cleanser and exfoliation, then, we apply two moisturizing serums, one seaweed-based, and one with a vitamin complex. The next step is a cooling seaweed mask. The fourth step is a mineralized clay facial mask and moisturizing paraffin hand treatment that stay on while you relax and enjoy your massage."

According to Sandra, Cosmos also can assemble a variety of customized gift baskets. If you don't know what to choose, gift certificates are always a great idea. ■

For more information, appointments or gift certificates, call Cosmos Salon and Day Spa at (480) 844-0707, or stop by the salon at The Village at Las Sendas, on the northeast corner of Power and McDowell roads.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Make a difference in their lives.

Last year, your contributions helped keep our players on the field. Red Mountain High reached the pinnacle in athletic achievement by winning the AIA Director's Cup. The girls softball team won its fourth consecutive state championship, ranking them No. 1 in the state and nation. State championships at Mountain View High in girls pom and boys golf, as well as individual state championships at Westwood, Dobson and Mountain View in swim and wrestling, were possible because of your generous donations.

The ECA state tax credit ...

- allows a dollar-for-dollar reduction of your state income tax owed
- can be directed to the school and eligible activity of your choice
- provides MPS students extracurricular opportunities
- must be postmarked or received by Dec. 31, 2013
- is available to all Arizona income tax payers

All donations are used for student programs and will remain at the school of your choice, with none going toward administration or overhead. Examples of eligible programs include:

- Career and Technical Education
- Gifted and Talented Program
- Creative and Performing Arts

Oral screening offered AT LAS SENDAS DENTAL HEALTH

Submitted by Dr. C. Martin Farnsworth, DMD

Every hour, one American dies from oral cancer, and the growing number of cases diagnosed are not caused from smoking or alcohol abuse. Oral cancer deaths are now higher than deaths from cervical, testicular, laryngeal or thyroid cancer. Research now shows the human papilloma virus, also referred to as HPV, is being linked to oral cancer at an alarming rate. Oral cancer is detectable and treatable if caught in the early stages. The bad news is, when most oral cancers are detected, it is in the later stages.

The survival rate jumps to 80 percent when oral cancer is caught early. Many avenues are now available to assist in detecting oral cancer at the early stages. One of the newest technologies cleared by the Federal Drug Administration for assistance in detecting cancerous and precancerous lesions is the Velscope™ oral cancer screening system. This LED dental device is used to aid in the detection of precancerous and cancerous lesions. We are pleased to announce Las Sendas Dental Health now has the enhanced ability to detect oral cancer at the early stages by routinely offering the Velscope™ screening service to our patients. It is recommended this life-saving screening be performed once a year, as is the case with all other annual exams. This screening is quite simple and takes only a couple of minutes. It is completely painless.

We are even more excited to say we were able to detect an abnormal lesion on one of our own team members, which has been biopsy-confirmed to be benign. Yet, it is an abnormal condition we now will be able to watch annually for any changes. ■

To schedule an appointment for your life-saving oral cancer screening, call our office today at (480) 283-5854. You also can check out our Web site at www.lassendasdentalhealth.com. Las Sendas Dental Health is located at 2947 N. Power Road, Suite 103.

Time flies with all the fun and food at O'Neill's Place

Submitted by O'Neill's Place

Well, the year sure has gone by fast, especially at O'Neill's Place.

Many of us have suffered through the grueling summer heat. We are now enjoying the beautiful weather of Arizona, as are our winter visitors all of whom O'Neill's Place would like to welcome back.

The O'Neill family and staff at O'Neill's Place thank all our patrons who supported us over the past year. We hope to continue providing a relaxing, comfortable environment where all can enjoy great food, libations and sports. We hope to offer even more improvements in 2014.

All winter long, we will be continuing our famous Monday Madness, the $8 burger with a beer; Thursday is Monday; Fish Fry Friday; and, of course, Prime Rib Saturday, which is our delicious 12-ounce

Prime Rib, baked potato and fresh sautéed vegetable for $15.

Naturally, O'Neill's will be showing all the NFL, NHL, NBA, and college games on its more than 40 TVs.

We are very proud to offer a Cheers type atmosphere, whereby patrons gather regularly to enjoy life and become friends. O'Neill's is where families spend time together, no matter what their ages. It's a place where patrons are on a first name basis with staff.

Paul, Beth, Matthew, Gregory and Nicholas O'Neill wish you all a happy and safe holiday season, whether you are celebrating Christmas, Hanukkah, Kwanzaa, or whatever your chosen holiday. We also wish all a prosperous and Happy New Year! ■

Be safe and most importantly, enjoy time with your spouses, families, and friends. Enjoy time with them at O'Neill's Place.

Wear Your Pride Las Sendas
Be sure to come on over and check out the new look and feel of the Golf Shop. We made some nice improvements this fall to make it much more comfortable and appealing. We have new fun and creative items rolling in every day. And we always are looking for suggestions. So, if there is something you would like to see, especially with the Las Sendas logo on it, please let us know, and we will look into carrying it. As our new motto goes, Wear Your Pride in Las Sendas!

Las Sendas Prints
These beautiful Las Sendas prints are available for purchase in the Golf Shop. We have many from which to choose, and, if you live on the course, you may just find your home depicted in one or two. It's the perfect piece to hang with pride. Also a wonderful gift idea!

Thursday Afternoon Ladies 9 and Wine Golf Group
In the past, you may recall hearing about the ladies afternoon 9 holes of golf and wine. Well, we're happy to tell you that, yes, it still is going on, and we would like to invite you to come on out and play. You do not need to be great at golf, you do not need to be a member of the golf club, and you don't even need to drink wine. You just need to enjoy beautiful lush green grass, being outdoors, and meeting other fun women who enjoy the same. Please call the Golf Shop at (480) 396-0440, and ask for Kim, or send an e-mail to kimsorkness@lassendas.com to get more details on the Thursday afternoon Ladies 9 and Wine Golf Group.

Golf Tips from Mike Malaska
In golf, we need to learn to take control of the things we actually have control over. One of those things is making sure we are aimed properly every time we make a swing. This not only is important on the golf course, but even more important while on the driving range. If you are not aimed correctly at your target, your swing will have to overcompensate to try and make the ball fly in the direction you want it to go.

An easy way to train your eyes to properly aim is to put alignment sticks or golf clubs on the ground while you are practicing. Place two sticks parallel to each other, where one is aimed at the target, and the second one aligns your feet to give you a square stance. If you watch tour players while they are practicing, or on the range warming up before a tournament, almost every one of them has sticks on the ground, or a caddy behind them to make sure they are aimed correctly. Next time you are on the range, take a look to see how many amateurs have alignment tools on the ground, because there won't be very many. If the tour players are still training their eyes to aim correctly, then every amateur should be doing so, as well.

HOLIDAY SEASON RECIPES AND GIFT IDEAS

Mason Jar Holiday Gifts

At the Las Sendas Banquet Pavilion, Chef Matt has many great ideas for making Christmas gifts in a mason jar, including delicious sand art brownies and Texas cornbread. But his Mexican Hot Chocolate and Spiced Pecans are just crazy good. You can top your jar with holiday fabrics, and add your own personal label and ribbon, to make a hostess gift or a present under the tree.

RECIPES OF THE MONTH

Mexican Hot Chocolate

In your handled mason jar, mix the following ingredients:

- 3 tablespoons cocoa powder
- 1/4 cup of sugar, mixed with a teaspoon of vanilla extract (or a scraped vanilla bean)
- 1/2 teaspoon of salt
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
- A dash of cayenne or chili powder (optional)
- 1/2 cup chopped semisweet chocolate (or morsels)
- Approximately 1 cup large marshmallows. These will fill the space at the top of the jar.

Preparation

When it comes time to enjoy the cocoa (for one serving):
Set marshmallows aside. Put 1/4 of the mix in a mug. Warm a cup of milk. Pour just enough of the warm milk into the mug to make a paste with the mix. This will prevent clumping. Then, pour in the rest of the milk and stir. Add the marshmallows on top and enjoy. This can easily be made in whole batches, by dividing all of the mix between four mugs, and using 4 cups of milk.
*For dairy allergies, almond milk makes this drink quite delish.

Spiced Pecans

Ingredients

- 1 teaspoon kosher salt
- 1/2 teaspoon ground cumin
- 1/2 teaspoon cayenne pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon dried ground orange peel
- 1 pound pecan halves
- 4 tablespoons unsalted butter
- 1/4 cup packed light brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons packed dark brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons water

Directions

Line a half sheet pan with parchment paper and set aside.
Mix the salt, cumin, cayenne, cinnamon and orange peel together in a small bowl and set aside.
Place the nuts in a 10-inch cast iron skillet, and set over medium heat. Cook, stirring frequently, for 4 to 5 minutes until they just start to brown and smell toasted. Add the butter and stir until it melts. Add the spice mixture and stir to combine. Once combined, add both sugars and water, stirring until the mixture thickens and coats the nuts, approximately 2 to 3 minutes.
Transfer the nuts to the prepared sheet pan, and separate them with a fork or spatula. Allow the nuts to cool completely before transferring to an airtight container for storage.

HOLIDAY

Boxing Day Enjoys Rich English Holiday Tradition

By Lorraine Ryall, Realtor, (CDPE), CSSN
Coldwell Banker Trails and Paths Premier Properties

It's the holiday season, so no real estate talk this month. Instead, I have decided to share some English holiday traditions. Boxing Day is a day steeped in tradition in England, and was always my family's day to celebrate Christmas together. We would spend Christmas Day with our in-laws. On Boxing Day, our family would get together at my sister's house for leftover turkey, bubble and squeak, as well as mince pies. Not only was it a great way to use up all the Christmas dinner leftovers, but it made getting together with family and friends so much easier over Christmas, as you had two days to celebrate instead of just one.

WHEN IS BOXING DAY?

Boxing Day is the day after Christmas Day, and, like Christmas Day, it is a public holiday in England.

WHAT IS BOXING DAY?

There are many theories as to the origin of Boxing Day. However, one most Brits will agree upon is, traditionally, it was the day to open the Christmas Box. A Christmas Box was made of wood or clay, and people would place money or gifts inside. The Christmas Box was used in many ways.

TO PROTECT SHIPS

During the age of great exploration, when great sailing ships were setting off to discover new land, a Christmas Box was used for good luck. It was a small container placed on each ship while it was still in port. A priest placed it there, and to ensure a safe return, crewmen would drop money into the box. It was then sealed up and kept onboard for the entire voyage.

If the ship came home safely, the box was handed over to the priest in exchange for the saying of a Mass of thanks for the success of the voyage. The priest would keep the box sealed until Christmas when he would open it to share the contents with the poor.

TO HELP THE POOR

An alms box was placed in every church on Christmas Day, into which worshippers placed a gift for the poor of the parish. These boxes were opened the day after Christmas.

THE SERVANTS' CHRISTMAS DAY

Servants were required to serve their masters on Christmas Day, and took the following day off to visit their families. As they prepared to leave, their master would present them with Christmas Boxes.

Happy Holidays! ■

Las Sendas Golf Club Hosts Tournament TO SUPPORT SPECIAL CAMP

Submitted by Arizona Camp Sunrise and Sidekicks

Las Sendas Golf Club will host a golf tournament, on Dec. 7, in support of Arizona Camp Sunrise and Sidekicks, a medically staffed summer camp for children who have or have had cancer.

The golf tournament hopes to raise funds for this worthwhile cause. The entrance fee is $150 per golfer. Sponsors and donors are needed and welcome.

Volunteers in charge of this event are Lori Limberg and Meghan Remington. For more information about the golf tournament, visit the Web site at www.azcampsunrise.org.

The American Cancer Society (ACS) founded Arizona Camp Sunrise in 1983 to provide an exciting summer camp experience to children with cancer while tending to their unique medical needs.

The ACS recently announced the discontinuation of funding for childhood cancer support programs, such as Arizona Camp Sunrise. In response, the team, composed entirely of volunteer camp counselors and directors, came together to form its own 501(c)3 non-profit organization. The Southwest Kids' Cancer Foundation continues to raise funds in an effort to offer these services to the children who need them.

Many volunteer staff members have been involved with Arizona Camp Sunrise for decades, and many are former campers.

The Arizona Camp Sunrise leadership team includes Melissa Lee, camp director. Send an e-mail to just_mtastic@sbcglobal.net. Another member of the leadership team is Erin Vosseller, assistant camp director. Send an e-mail to erin.vosseller@summitschoolaz.org.

For more information about Arizona Camp Sunrise and Sidekicks, contact Matthew Feller at (480) 228-6407. Matthew began at Camp Sunrise Sidekicks, the sibling camp, at the age of 8. He now serves as the volunteer program director for the camps.

INSPIRATION

Father Gives Son the Greatest Gift

By Paul O'Neill

It was on Sept. 23 when I received the phone call from my eldest brother that I had been hoping to receive for almost a year—Dad had passed at the age of 84.

About two years ago, my dad had succumbed to the creepy disease of Alzheimer's, and we had to take him to a resident home more suitable to help him with his needs. This disease slowly sucks the life out of you until there is no awareness of life or existence. After visiting my dad this past May, in New York, I could only begin to hope on a daily basis that he would give in and move forward to whatever the next stage of existence might be. I can only be sure of the fact it was time for him to no longer be here on this earth.

It is all about just that, our time here. My dad was a simple man. His purpose here was being a Catholic, being Irish, and most importantly, being a family man.

Although some may say he was stern and not the most open man, he was a great man. He was not perfect and had flaws. He received a lot of love and forgiveness from his two incredible marriages. His first wife, Patricia Clare, passed when I was 5 years old. Ironically, Patricia Ann, was married to my dad for more than 40 years. I guess it was simpler to marry another Patricia. I, however, am not so simple.

Additionally, he raised five boys, accomplished 30 years of coaching little league baseball, made sure we all had a station wagon in which to be driven around, helped with the newspaper deliveries, pulled the pop-up camper, tried the boat scene, did all the home improvements around the house himself, and much, much more—an endless list after 84 years. He was there for all.

Oftentimes, we all get so wrapped up in what we are doing, and we forget how precious and short life can be. We forget the importance of our spouses, our children and our family, which may not live close by.

It took my dad's passing and the gathering of our entire family back in New York to awaken me as to the importance of family, and reflect on my life to see how important family was to my dad. Yes, I am Irish, and, yes, I am Catholic (at least I think I am), but most importantly, I am a family man like my dad. I only hope I can raise my three boys as well as he has raised his five.

So, I encourage all to cherish your spouses, your children and enjoy family as much as possible. The simple things in life can bring so much joy to all, especially with the holidays upon us.

Simply, being there.

My dad gave me the greatest gift. With his passing, he brought the entire family from California, Arizona, North Carolina, New Hampshire and New York, including nine grandchildren, all back to New York, to celebrate his life.

He gave me the gift of family.

Perhaps we don't always have to wait for someone's passing to get the family together, I know I won't.

Please join me in toasting a man who earned the love of his family yet, never asked for it.

Daniel Joseph O'Neill—Jan. 1, 1929 to Sept. 23, 2013

HEALTH

THERE IS CONFUSION ABOUT GOOD FAT AND BAD FAT

By Dr. Afroze Ahmad
Las Sendas Cardiology, PC

So, what is all this hoopla about trans fats? Some people believe the jury is still out as to whether trans fats are the bad fats or not. Once upon a time, trans fats were, indeed, considered to be a good thing. Why? Because trans fats not only prolong the shelf life of a product, but the fact is these products also taste good. These positives are translated into enjoying your favorite food for a very long time. These products include everything from an Oreo cookie to a frozen TV dinner.

Enjoying your favorite food without it going stale on you for a prolonged period of time is where the party ends. Once the trans fats enter our digestive tract, it is no longer pretty or rosy.

DEFINITION OF TRANS FATS

Trans fat is generally any type of fat that is solid at room temperature. There are both naturally occurring trans fats and artificial trans fats. The naturally occurring trans fat in animal sources includes beef, lamb, ice cream, yogurt and butter.

However, the most common type of trans fat is the artificial type. Generally, these artificial trans fats are your regular vegetable oils. So, these vegetable oils, which are essentially liquid at room temperature, undergo a process whereby they receive a hydrogen atom. This hydrogen atom causes hydrogenation of the vegetable oil, and thus the oil saturates and solidifies.

DANGER OF TRANS FATS

Similar to saturated fats, these trans fats raise the bad cholesterol, or the LDL. Unlike the saturated fats, the trans fats also have the tendency to lower the good cholesterol, which also is called the HDL. As we know, the bad cholesterol gets deposited into the arteries like gunk in your kitchen sink drainpipe. It is this depositing of fats and cholesterol, which increases the risk of heart attack, stroke or even fatal heart attack.

BIG BROTHER AND TRANS FATS IS A GOOD THING

The concern for trans fats creating havoc in arteries has not been lost on our government. The Food and Drug Administration has been imposing rules and restrictions on not only how much saturated fat we can consume as individuals, but also on how much trans fat should be part of the total saturated fat. The recommendation is we should only consume 7 percent of our calories from saturated fat, and it should include 0 percent from trans fat. Yes, 0 percent from trans fat. It started with New York City restaurants, and now the ban is universal for the entire food industry to completely eliminate trans fat.

NOT ALL NEWS IS BAD NEWS

What about fast food? McDonald's Web site does declare trans fat is not a component of their food products. There are manufacturers selling cookies and other pre-cooked foods, and declaring their products are trans fat free. So, you may have to pay a little more for a trans fat free product.

RULE OF READING FOOD LABELS

Any food label stating 0 trans fat may still contain trans fat up to 0.5 grams. The Food and Drug Administration allows this leniency to the food manufacturing industry.

ALL THAT GLITTERS IS NOT GOLD

So, the next time you reach out for the mouthwatering blueberry muffin, think twice and read thrice as to what it contains. As we all know, healthy dietary habits and food generally are more expensive. Nevertheless, there are options available to us. Eat fruits and raw vegetables as snacks, and you will significantly reduce the consumption of trans fat. ■

BUYING A HOME IN MESA

IS A GREAT IDEA FOR THE NEW YEAR

By John Karadsheh

If you have looked around Mesa lately, it is evident that change is afoot. From the new Cubs stadium finishing up at Dobson and the 202, to the recent announcement that Apple is coming to Mesa, there is a lot going on in our city.

Just a few years ago, the recession hit Mesa hard. Businesses shuttered, the Cubs threatened to leave, and neighborhoods were full of foreclosures and short sales. During that critical time, under the stellar direction of Mayor Scott Smith and his hardworking economic development team, Mesa sought out new opportunities, and implemented a plan for a stronger city.

John Karadsheh

BRIGHT SPOTS IN MESA

Entertainment and Tourism

The Cubs will begin the 2014 Spring Training Season in their amazing new 15,000-seat stadium, featuring state-of-the-art training facilities. Additionally, the Oakland Athletics signed a 20-year deal to stay in Mesa, and will move to a renovated Hohokam Stadium. Spring Training in Mesa will be better than ever. The Mesa Arts Center also has continued to expand its offerings of world-class entertainment...and we can't forget about all the great golf courses.

Higher Education

Since January 2012, Mesa has announced that Benedictine University, Westminster College,

Wilkes University and Albright College will all be opening in the city. Additionally, this summer, Grand Canyon University announced it would be building a $150 million satellite campus, at Eastmark, by the Gateway Airport. Arizona State University Polytechnic at Gateway currently educates more than 10,000 students, and steadily is growing, while Mesa Community College serves more than 25,000 at its campuses.

Aviation

The Phoenix-Mesa Gateway Airport is among the fastest growing hub airports in the country. In 2012, it serviced more than 1.3 million passengers, a rapid growth from the only 350,000 passengers serviced in 2008. Gateway hosts more than 40 companies, and recently was reported to contribute more than $1.3 billion annually to the Arizona economy. Mesa's Falcon Field Airport, the fifth busiest general aviation airport in the United States, hosts more than 100 companies, and contributes more than $2 billion to the local economy. The city also remains home to many aerospace companies, including Boeing, MD Helicopters and Cessna.

Transportation

Mesa's great access to transportation, the Loop 202 and the U.S. 60, provide easy access to all areas of the Valley. Mesa residents also are within 20 minutes of both Phoenix Sky Harbor International Airport and Phoenix-Mesa Gateway Airport. The light rail expansion, when completed, will service almost 10,000 weekly riders.

Apple

Of course, Apple will be great for Mesa and Arizona. But even better, is the fact this facility brings some of the company's previously outsourced production back to the United States.

All of this positive growth for Mesa is paired with strong economic growth predicted for Arizona on the whole. According to an August report, by Moody's Analytics, Arizona is expected to have the fastest job growth in the country, at 3 percent annually over the next five years.

What does this mean for real estate? Economic growth brings jobs, jobs bring people, and people need housing. While the real estate inventory is beginning to increase, analysts still are predicting home prices will continue to climb 9 to 12 percent annually, through 2014.

So, with great growth and development, strong city leadership, low property taxes, a broad selection of homes, great entertainment options, a growing number of restaurants, and easy access to all areas of the Phoenix metro area, Mesa will be the gem of the next decade, and one of the best places to invest and live in the Valley of the Sun. ■

ITS TIME TO BE PASSIONATE ABOUT TRAVEL AGAIN

Submitted by Terra Travel

The post-Sept. 11 world for the travel and tourism industry was a difficult one, with the aftermath of this tragic event leading people to believe the industry had permanently collapsed. While travel slowed considerably, the public's desire to travel did not. Today, that love affair lives on. Not only do people desire to travel more, they feel it is their right to do so. And they are. In droves. This increase, coupled with a demand for more personalized, advocacy-style service and the retirement of thousands of baby boomers, dictates a pressing need to develop the next generation of travel consultants. The problem—After 9/11, many long-established travel programs were forced to close, while community colleges found their offerings whittled down to nearly nothing. Today, even the best host agencies find it difficult to provide consultants with the necessary training. The solution—A select few industry agencies are picking up the slack, including Terra Travel. President and Owner Paul Seiferth recognized this need, and is meeting it head-on. He and Academy Director Beth Johnson will be providing comprehensive and industry-specific training for new and seasoned travel consultants with the opening of the new Terra Travel Academy. Open to a limited, select group of students, Terra Travel Academy will start its first eight-week course (two nights per week) on Jan. 6, 2014. Participants will study everything from tours, cruises and luxury travel, to international geography and self-promotion. Are you retired, a high school grad, or seeking a more rewarding (and fun) career? Whether you are new to the industry, or would like a refresher course, which includes the needs of today's traveler, you don't want to miss out. It's an exciting time to be part of the travel industry. Won't you join us? ■ For more information, contact Terra Travel Academy Director Beth Johnson at (480) 544-5414, or President and Owner Paul Seiferth at (480) 820-0701.

Teachers from Mesa Public Schools touch the lives of more than 63,000 students in 82 schools every day. They encourage students to strive for excellence, to become well-rounded individuals and make a difference in the world. Ask educators why they chose teaching as a profession, and they will reveal not for fame and glory, but for the opportunity to motivate each student.

CELEBRATING TEACHERS OF THE YEAR

Mesa Public Schools teachers are recognized by professional organizations and revered by the local business community. Here is a snapshot of teacher accolades for their contributions to education. Nancie Lindblom, 2012 Arizona Teacher of the Year, inspires her Skyline High School Advanced Placement students daily by bringing United States history to life. Amanda Grimes, the Bioscience Educator of the Year award recipient, applies scientific concepts to open up a world of possibilities to her Biotechnology Academy students at Mesa High School.

Arizona native, Reta Yanik, teaches agricultural science at Westwood High School to more than 150 students. From animal science to biotechnology classes, this 2013 Arizona Agriculture Teacher of the Year is dedicated to her student's desire to learn about agriculture. Recognizing the importance of developing complex problem-solving skills, Arizona Science Teacher of the Year, Erik Von Burg, implemented the Gateway to Technology middle school engineering program to prepare his Carson Junior High School students for future careers.

COMMUNITY SUPPORT

The business community acknowledges exceptionally talented teachers in a variety of ways. Our Arizona Cardinals selected Wendy Lathrope, special education kindergarten and first-grade teacher, as an Arizona Cardinals MVP in the Classroom. The Sousa Elementary School teacher received an Arizona Cardinals Jersey, a $500 DonorsChose.org gift card, and was honored during pregame festivities. Office Max estimates teachers spend $1,000 on classroom supplies every year, and they provide support to teachers through the A Day Made Better campaign. A total of three Mesa Public Schools teachers were awarded the Office Max prize. Bethany Tanner, fourth-grade teacher at Stevenson Elementary School; Elaine Neely-Veatch, fifth-grade teacher at Longfellow Elementary School; and Carol Woods, second-grade teacher at Entz Elementary School, were all surprised with a certificate of appreciation and classroom supplies and equipment valued at $1,000. Horne Kia named Gretchen Rodeffer, Red Mountain Ranch Elementary School first-grade teacher, a Horne's Hero for making a difference in education. She was showcased in a testimonial video celebrating her merit on Horne Kia's and Arizona State (ASU) University Athletics Web sites. Gretchen will be presented with tickets for her class to an ASU baseball game, where she will be honored. In addition, she is in the running for the grand prize—a one-year lease on a 2014 Horne Kia. The outpouring of teacher recognition for a job well done is always appreciated. At the end of the day, however, teachers will tell you it's about the connection with their students and families, and making a difference in their lives. "I live for when students have one of those aha moments when they finally understand a concept," said Kelvin Einspahr, math teacher at Red Mountain High School. ■

GIVE A GIFT THE ENTIRE FAMILY CAN ENJOY

By Dawn Abbey
Nowadays, major gift giving primarily centers on personal electronics—smartphones, tablets, gaming and others. With the exception of family TV night or shared video games, however, most electronic entertainment has the effect of separating family members off to various parts of the house to pursue their favorite electronic activities. “If you want to bring the family back together, why not give them a fun-filled location to share—the backyard pool,” said Chris Quam, owner of Arizona Pool Guy, Inc. “And the best way to do that is to add a heater to your pool. With our beautiful winter weather, pool fun can be enjoyed all year round, and it’s really affordable,” he continued. “With an energy-efficient heat pump pool heater, it could cost less each month than your cable or smartphone bill to heat a pool.” Chris suggests thinking of your backyard as an extension of your home, like another family room. “Sometimes we forget about our outdoor area,” he stated, “and, as the kids say, ‘It’s bor-r-ring.’ With a heated pool and a few makeover ideas, you can make your backyard the center of family activities. A pool can be enjoyed by all ages, and it’s great exercise, too. Even though my own daughters are several years apart, the one activity they like doing together when they get home from school is playing in their nice, warm pool.” Your heat pump, like the heat pump that heats and cools your home, also can be configured as a cooler for your pool, too. “So, next July, when everyone else is swimming in bath water,” Chris said, “your pool will be 10 degrees cooler.” If it’s been many years since your pool was installed, it could use refinishing. With one of the new pebble finishes, some dramatic lighting and water features, together with attractive new decking, the whole area takes on an exciting feeling. According to Chris, makeovers should take in family dynamics. If you have younger children, a water slide, volleyball net or waterfalls add to the fun. For teens and adults, a cozy fire pit, neon lighting, in-pool umbrellas and an outdoor barbeque/kitchen area make a great party atmosphere. Not only can you enjoy using it, but it adds value to your home. So, this year, give a gift the whole family can enjoy together. “We have a team of craftsmen who can design and build your backyard playland to your individual specifications,” said Chris. “Give us a call, and we’ll come out and give you some great ideas and free estimates. We are running a special on pool heaters through January, and we’ll even include a free solar pool cover to save you more money.” ■ To contact Chris about a pool heater, or for information on any pool service, installation or repair, call (480) 699-0607. EAGLE ELECTRICAL WON'T LET YOU Get Hung By Holiday Lights

By Kimberly Searles
With the holidays coming, expert electricians at Eagle Electrical can save you time and hassle when it comes to stringing up those holiday lights, and they can do it safely. The extra lighting during the holidays can create strain on a home’s electrical system. That’s where Eagle Electrical’s expertise can do more than just string up lights. “Every holiday season, we see many of those Christmas Vacation situations in which residents overload their home’s circuit, causing power outages or even fires,” said George Robbins, a licensed, bonded and insured electrician, with 22 years experience. Eagle Electrical will make sure your home’s power grid can handle the extra duties for the duration of the holiday season, thus avoiding any unexpected power outages. Rather than adding extension cords all around your home, which is unsafe, Eagle Electrical can install electrical outlets under your home’s eave, or anywhere around your home where you might want to add decorations. They even can make it easier for you to display your holiday cheer by installing an auto sensor for lights. “The auto sensors are great because you don’t have to lift a finger,” said George. “They’ll automatically turn on at night. Even better, you don’t have to worry about forgetting to turn them off in the morning. It’s already done.” Because of the additional strain on the home’s circuits during this time of year, George recommends taking a moment to check all your smoke detectors, and change out all the batteries, especially for all those who enjoy live Christmas trees. “It’s also a great time to look at the home’s main electrical panel, with the cooler weather,” George stated. “We can perform a safety check, clean out the dirt and debris from the summer, and do a tune-up to make sure your home is ready for additional use during the holidays.” As a small, locally owned business, Eagle Electrical prides itself in creating long-lasting relationships with its customers. They are available to offer valuable advice regarding your home’s electrical needs—and maybe even which holiday lighting products work best and most cost effectively. Always up-to-date on the latest advancements, the expertise Eagle Electrical offers is second to none. ■ Let Eagle Electrical take the hassle out of hanging holiday lights this year.
