Mahnah Club plans fund-raising event

Submitted by Mahnah Club

Mahnah Club of the East Valley will host a luncheon and fashion show on March 22, at 11 a.m., at The Vistas Pavilion at Las Sendas, 7555 E. Eagle Crest Drive.

The luncheon will include The Heart of Fashion, a fashion show and silent auction, with proceeds benefitting the Child Crisis Center, Save the Family Foundation, high school scholarships and many other charities.

The public is welcome to join the fun, and be a part of the fantastic community event. Tickets are $50 per person, and can be obtained on the Web site at www.MahnahClub.org.

The following are questions and answers about Mahnah Club:

Q: What can I expect of the event?

A: The fashion show will feature fashions by Chico's and Banana Republic. There will be a fantastic silent auction, as well as the opportunity to purchase raffle tickets to win a beautiful 1966 Mustang. All proceeds will be allocated to our charities.

Q: Why is community support so important for this event?

A: Child Crisis Center provides a safe environment for children in need and support services to build strong family units. Save the Family provides transitional housing and many support services in order to assist families and break the cycle of homelessness. High school scholarships are awarded to service-minded high school seniors who might not otherwise have the opportunity to further their education.

Q: What is Mahnah Club?

A: Mahnah Club is a non-profit 501(C3) organization of women who support charitable causes relating to improving the lives of children and providing supportive family units.

Together for 60 years, Mahnah Club founded the Child Crisis Center more than 30 years ago. Over the years, the organization has worked tirelessly to support, both financially and personally, the needs of the Child Crisis Center and Save the Family Foundation, as well as many other local charities. ■

Come to the Neighborhood BBQ AND MUSIC FESTIVAL

Submitted by Red Mountain United Methodist Church

The annual Neighborhood BBQ and Music Festival, at Red Mountain United Methodist Church, in Northeast Mesa, takes place on Sunday, March 30, from noon to 2 p.m.

So, save the date to join your friends and family for great food, a variety of live music and activities for every age.

"This is our gift to the community," explained Senior Pastor Mary Bullis. "It will be a fun-filled day, and is free to all our guests."

The picnic-style lunch, from Waldo's BBQ, will include BBQ sandwiches, hot dogs, macaroni and cheese, cowboy beans, coleslaw, potato chips, beverages and desserts.

JR McAlexander, executive director of Showtune Productions, and organist/keyboardist at the church, has put together a special musical program for the afternoon. JR was widely known as the musical director for the Broadway Palm Theater for 11 years. He has directed musical shows throughout the U.S., and promises that everyone at the BBQ will enjoy An Afternoon with Mitzi Smith, which will take place in the tent behind the church.

Mitzi, accompanied by a four- to five-piece band, will be singing two 45-minute sets, beginning at noon. Her repertoire includes well-known pieces from Motown, Etta James, Whitney Houston and Aretha Franklin, as well as Broadway and Gospel selections. Mitzi, who has been singing since she was a little girl, has performed in many venues across the U.S., and was once a backup singer for Elton John.

Other music throughout the afternoon will feature Margie Mays, an accomplished steel guitarist. Margie has performed in England and throughout the U.S., and was part of the opening band for the Gatlin Brothers. She will display her many talents as part of a guitar and vocal trio, featuring John Park and Mike Wooton, as they perform both Christian and old-style country music. Jim Moses, well-known acoustic guitarist and vocalist, will perform folk music and ballads on the patio.

Bounce houses, face painting and children's games will be featured throughout the campus, and youth and adults can enjoy playing volleyball on the sand court. Karaoke for all ages is another big hit. ■

More information is available by calling Red Mountain United Methodist Church at (480) 981-3833, or by visiting the Web site at rmumc.com. The church is located just north of McDowell Road, on the west side of Power Road.

Go behind the scenes AT MESA PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Story by Laurie Struna

Mesa Public Schools is nationally recognized for excellence in teaching, and for student achievement in academics, sports, creative and performing arts, as well as career and technical programs.

Did you know, however, a variety of support services contribute to ensuring a safe and healthy learning environment for all students? Have you ever wondered who keeps the buses running on schedule, the carpets clean and the technology operating? Here is a behind-the-scenes look at a few departments adding to the success of Mesa Public Schools.

THE FUTURE IS GREEN

Mesa Public Schools bus drivers safely transport 18,161 students to and from school. They serve as the first and last point of contact with students and parents each day. Transportation maintenance technicians keep 544 buses up and running for the 34,689 daily miles they log. The district operates the largest bus fleet in Arizona, and currently is converting the bus fleet to propane. Last year, Mesa Public Schools reduced greenhouse gases by 2,789 tons, becoming the first school district to win the Propane Autogas Fleet award.

USING TECHNOLOGY TO PROVIDE SERVICE TO PARENTS

Imagine supporting one of the largest Web sites, and most active online presence of any kindergarten through grade 12 school system in the world. That is all in a day's work for Web Services, the team responsible for supporting student and staff use of Web-based technology.

In addition to traditional research and learning tools, today's students use online resources, video conferencing and cloud computing. As the call for technology increases, so do the demands for maintaining the district Web site, and servicing employee and student e-mail.

Mesa Public Schools Web users have created more than 675,000 unique pages of content, have uploaded more than 40,000 minutes or 29 days of video footage, and have helped build a site, which attracts more than 100,000 daily page hits. In addition to Web site news and information, the district Facebook presence allows the community to keep up to date on accomplishments and events. ■

For more information, please visit www.mpsaz.org, or go to www.facebook.com/mpsaz.

MAKE MEALS COUNT

Well-nourished children have improved concentration, elevated test scores, better school attendance and fewer behavioral issues. The central warehouse for food and nutrition drives 820 miles per day to provide students, at 76 campuses, with a wide assortment of appealing and nutritious foods. Each day, students consume 15,500 breakfast quesadillas, as well as 956 gallons of milk, 2,250 pounds of apple slices and a whopping 33,300 slices of whole-wheat pizzeria-style pizza.

A WELCOMING ENVIRONMENT

When students and teachers are healthy and comfortable, the class can maintain focus on teaching and learning. The 389-member custodial department works tirelessly to ensure schools are sparkling every day. These individuals provide important services, from cleaning carpets and disposing properly of waste from the health office, to scrubbing and recoating gymnasium floors. In addition, crews spend three to five days per week dislodging gum from concrete, using high-pressure machines to blast focused streams of heated water to remove the residue.

REAL ESTATE

NOW IS A GOOD TIME FOR INVESTORS TO SELL AND BUY

By Lorraine Ryall, Realtor
CDPE, CSSN, MSSC
Coldwell Banker Trails and Paths
Premier Properties

With the increase in home prices, it's a great time for investors to take advantage of that profit and reinvest by trading up into more expensive homes, or selling one home and buying two.

With the 1031 Exchange, you can sell investment property (or personal property) and defer the property gains tax by reinvesting into other real estate. So, if you sell at a $100,000 profit, instead of having to pay about one-third of that to Uncle Sam, you get to keep it all, and have it continue working for you. It's a great way to grow your investment assets by reinvesting in more or better properties with higher returns.

1031 Exchange Requirements Like-Kind

To qualify for the 1031 Exchange, the property being purchased must be of like-kind to the property sold. There is a lot of misconception as to what like-kind means. If you sell a condo, you don't have to purchase another condo. If you sell a single family home, you don't have to purchase a single family home. Like-kind refers to the section of the Internal Revenue Service Code governing it. For tax purposes, like-kind simply means investment property. You can exchange a rental house for a farm, a commercial building, shopping center or vacant land. You can even invest in oil wells or a coal mine if you like, just as long as it is an investment property.

Reinvesting Values

The net purchase price of the property or properties to be acquired or exchanged must be of equal or greater value than the net sales value of the property being relinquished. You must reinvest all your net cash proceeds from the sale to avoid any capital gains tax.

Time Lines

The Identification Period: This is a crucial period whereby you have 45 days from the close of escrow of the relinquished property to identify potential replacement properties. The 45 days is based on calendar days, and it doesn't matter if the 45th day falls on a Saturday or Sunday, or on a national holiday. This deadline cannot be extended.

The Three Property Identification Rule: There are several different rules associated with identifying replacement properties, but the Three Property Identification Rule is the most commonly used in a 1031 Exchange. This allows you to identify up to three potential like-kind replacement properties. Even if you only plan on purchasing one property, it is still a good idea to identify three, so you have backups in case anything happens to the one you plan on purchasing.

The Exchange Period: This is the period you have to complete the exchange. You have 180 calendar days from the close of your relinquished property to acquire the new property and close the transaction. The 45 days identification period is included in the 180 days.

What Is a Qualified Intermediary?

The sale and purchase transactions must be structured properly in order to qualify for the tax deferred treatment under a 1031 Exchange, and you or your associates cannot ever have access to the proceeds of the sale. Everything has to pass through a qualified intermediary. While title companies, law offices, accountants and others may perform this function, it's probably best to use a firm that only takes on this kind of business.

If you are thinking of doing a 1031 Exchange, or you want to start investing in real estate, call me today for more information, and to assist you in selling and purchasing your properties. ■

GOLF ACADEMY

Golf Tips from Mike Malaska

This month, I want to talk about the dreaded shot out of the sand. Bunker shots are the hardest shots for amateurs to hit, and the easiest shots for the pros to hit. Why should it be the easiest? Because you actually are trying to miss the ball, giving yourself more room for error. You don't have to pick the club up, and hit dramatically down into the sand. You only have to hit and throw sand out from under the ball. Think about hitting the bunker shot so the sand carries the ball with it. If you set up with your shoulders level (parallel to the ground), hit just an inch or two behind the ball, and feel like you throw the sand at the target. You'll soon be agreeing with the pros. ■

RECIPE OF THE MONTH

Short Rib Pappardelle with a Sherry Mushroom Cream Sauce from Chef Matthew

SHORT RIBS

Ingredients

- 2 pounds Short Ribs (or boneless chuck flap)
- 1 cup Red wine (port recommended)
- 2 Carrots, stew cut
- 3 ribs Celery, stew cut
- 2 Yellow onions, stew cut
- 3 Garlic cloves, whole
- 1 Bay leaf, dried
- 3 sprigs Thyme, fresh
- 1/2 tablespoon Whole black peppercorns
- 2 tablespoons Kosher salt
- Water to cover by 70%

Procedure

Sear the short ribs in a very hot large pot to obtain a good sear. Make sure to season all sides of your short rib as you sear. Remove seared short ribs. Add in vegetables, and sauté for a few minutes until onions are translucent. Replace short ribs. Deglaze with wine. Add remaining seasonings and water. Cover tightly with lid or foil. Cook for 4 hours at 350 degrees, or until very tender.

SHERRY MUSHROOM CREAM SAUCE

Ingredients

- 1.5 pounds Button Mushrooms, quartered
- 1.5 tablespoons Garlic cloves, finely chopped
- 1 Bay leaf
- 1 tablespoon Thyme, fresh-chopped
- 1/2 gallon Heavy whipping cream
- 1/2 cup Sherry wine
- 1 tablespoon Canola oil
- 1/2 teaspoon Red chili fake
- 1/2 teaspoon Nutmeg, ground
- 2 teaspoons (or more to liking) Kosher salt
- 1 teaspoon Black pepper

Procedure

Sauté the garlic with the thyme on a medium heat (avoid color on garlic). Add mushrooms. Deglaze pan with wine, add bay leaf. Then reduce wine by 75%. Add heavy cream, chili flake and nutmeg. Reduce until sauce can coat a spoon. Then gradually add salt and pepper.

Serve this delicious short rib dish with sautéed cherry tomatoes, shaved parmesan and pearl onions. Add the Creamy Sherry sauce to any style of pasta one desires.

Self Development Partners with Local High Schools

By Jen Salvatori, Self Development Charter School

On Feb. 11, Self Development Charter School (SDCS) hosted its Middle School and High School Information Night for parents and students.

Among the presenters were the school leaders from four of Mesa's high schools, i9 Sports' representatives, as well as SDCS administration and faculty members. With a wonderful turnout, the event was a huge success.

Several local high school administrators attended the event. Among the school leaders present were Brian Snoddy, Arizona Agribusiness and Equine Center; Greg Milbrandt, Mountain View High School (School of the Champs); Dr. Catherine McDaniel, Red Mountain High School (Cambridge International Examination School); and Nina Johnston of Westwood High School (International Bachelorette Program).

These administrators presented valuable insight into choosing an appropriate school to meet students' specific needs, and discussed the programs offered at their schools. Presenters included Mr. Snoddy, Mr. Milbrandt, Dr. McDaniel and Ms. Johnston. Parents and students were given the opportunity to meet individual high school leaders to discuss their programs.

During the information session, SDCS faculty provided an overview of the academic program, which includes Language Arts (grammar and writing) and Literature (high school level), Social Studies, Science (i.e., Life, Physical, Biology, AP Biology), Math (i.e. Algebra I, Geometry, Algebra II) and Foreign Language (Latin and Spanish). The Foreign Language courses are hybrid classes, offered through Middlebury College. Students have the opportunity to enroll in various electives as well, including computers, journalism, art, SAT prep, Math Counts and Science Bowl.

A student's SDCS middle school years begin with grade six. Many students transition from SDCS's elementary program (kindergarten through grade five) directly into the middle school. However, students are welcome at any grade level. SDCS's middle school program continues the tradition of an accelerated curriculum, which begins during the elementary school years.

The SDCS curriculum is designed to instill study skills and academic knowledge for success in high school. Students who complete the kindergarten through grade-eight program at SDCS have the reputation for being self-disciplined, motivated learners who tend to be highly successful in high school. SDCS coordinates with local high schools to facilitate a smooth transition to high school and ensure student success.

"The commitment to academic excellence Self Development Charter School provides to my son is preparing him for a seamless transition from junior high to high school," shared Dr. Alysha Bundy, a parent of a middle school child at Self Development Charter School. "The integral role of the teachers and staff in my son's development is far and beyond what I expect of a school," Dr. Bundy added. "Thank you for your perseverance and dedication not only to students, but also to the future of our youth."

Another parent of a student at SDCS also expressed her appreciation for the quality education her child is receiving. "It was fascinating to hear how far an individual, motivated student may progress through a custom-tailored curriculum at SDCS," said AnnElise Makin. "It is amazing to think students could achieve such high school levels in math. It is never too soon to think about that next step," AnnElise continued. "The presentations by AAEC, Mountain View, Red Mountain, and Westwood—all excellent schools—were so varied and interesting."

In its commitment to develop well-rounded students, SDCS offers various extracurricular activities, including violin and percussion classes. The school also offers clubs, such as dance, foreign language and sports.

Next year, SDCS will partner with i9 Sports to provide students with athletic skills instruction and competitive opportunities. Sports may include soccer, basketball, volleyball and flag football. Also, the school is preparing to start a robotics program for the 2014-2015 school year. Again, given the academic and extracurricular opportunities, students are well prepared to transfer to high school. ■

Terra Travel seeks people PASSIONATE ABOUT TRAVEL

Submitted by Terra Travel

For the travel and tourism industry, the post-Sept. 11 world was a difficult one.

The aftermath of this tragic event led people to believe the travel and hospitality industries had permanently collapsed. However, while travel slowed considerably, the public's desire to travel did not.

Today, that love affair lives on. Not only do people desire to travel more, they feel it is their right to do so. And they are—in droves.

This increase, coupled with a demand for more personalized, advocacy-style service, as well as the retirement of thousands of baby boomers, dictates a pressing need to develop the next generation of travel consultants.

The problem? After Sept. 11, many long-established travel programs were forced to close, while community colleges found their offerings whittled down to nearly nothing. Today, even the best host agencies find it difficult to provide consultants with the necessary training.

The solution? A select few industry agencies are picking up the slack, including Terra Travel. Terra Travel President and Owner Paul Seiferth recognized this need, and he is meeting it head-on. He and Academy Director Beth Johnson are providing comprehensive and industry-specific training for new and seasoned travel consultants through Terra Travel Academy.

Open to a limited, select group of students, Terra Travel Academy will start its next eight-week course (two nights per week), in Mesa, on March 17, and, in Phoenix, on May 7. Participants will study everything from tours, cruises and luxury travel, to international geography and self-promotion.

Are you retired, a high school graduate, or are you seeking a more rewarding (and fun) career? Whether you are new to the industry, or would like a refresher course, which includes the needs of today's traveler, you don't want to miss out.

It is an exciting time to be part of the travel industry. Won't you join us? ■

For more information, contact Beth at (480) 544-5414, or Paul at (480) 820-0701.

There Is a Simplified Option to the Home Office Deduction

By B. David Fuller, CPA

In a nutshell, home office expenses may be deductible if part of the home is used regularly and exclusively in the normal course of business of the taxpayer.

Exclusive use means just that. A taxpayer does not meet the requirements of the exclusive use test if the office is used both for business and for personal purposes. Of course, there are exceptions. One exception is for taxpayers who use part of their homes as day care facilities.

Generally, deductions for a home office are based on the percentage of the taxpayer's home devoted to business use. The taxpayer must calculate the percentage of the home devoted to the business, then allocate the expenses of operating their home between personal and business use. Among the type of expenses which may be taken into account are the costs of insurance, utilities, repairs and depreciation.

NEW SIMPLIFIED OPTION

The new simplified option is intended to remove some of the complexity from calculating the home office deduction. It is an alternative to the calculation and allocation of actual expenses otherwise required for the home office deduction. Taxpayers using the simplified option must continue to satisfy all of the requirements for the home office deduction (such as exclusive use and the other criteria discussed above).

Beginning with 2013 tax filings, a taxpayer using the simplified option will calculate the amount of allowable deductible expenses for business use of a home for the tax year. This is accomplished by multiplying the square footage used for the home office (not to exceed 300 feet) by the prescribed rate (currently $5) for a maximum deduction of $1,500. In addition, a taxpayer using the simplified option generally may take full itemized deductions for mortgage interest and property taxes, without any proration to account for a home office. Taxpayers may elect to use the simplified option in one year, and actual expenses in a subsequent year.

The new simplified option is optional. Some taxpayers may find it valuable because of its intended ease of use, but it is not a one-size-fits-all substitute to the regular rules. The simplified option will be available with 2013 tax-year returns. Our office can assist you in evaluating the new simplified option. Please contact our office for more information about the home office deduction. ■

Handyman Service CAN DO THE JOB

Submitted by 480 Handyman Services

As owner of 480 Handyman Services, Mike Leonard is a one-man show, looking to do those smaller jobs you have been pushing to the back burner or have forgotten about completely.

A Red Mountain Ranch resident, Mike can be at your home quickly for any repair or project in need of attention. "I look forward to working with my neighbors, and creating a trust for not only the year round residents," Mike said, "but also those part-time residents who will have the added security of knowing and trusting someone to care for their homes while they are away for the season."

Do you need a new toilet, shut off or faucet replaced? How about new lighting installed, or switches and outlets replaced?

Are doors and windows out of adjustment, or in need of replacing? Is there sheetrock damaged? Is your drip system leaking? How about painting or trim work needing to be done? "I can do it for you," Mike stated confidently.

Mike recently moved back to Arizona with his wife when she was transferred due to her employment. He started 480 Handyman Services LLC after 10 years of remodeling kitchens, basements and decks in New York. ■

Mike offers free estimates, and is happy to answer any questions you may have. Call him at (480) 226-3986. You also can send Mike an e-mail at 480Handyman@gmail.com. Check out the 480 Handyman Services at 480Handyman.com. Insured and registered with the State of Arizona.

MAKE MONEY AND HAVE FUN WITH your own AAA Gold Party

By Kimberly Searles

What if you could get paid for simply having a party in your home? You can... with an AAA Gold party.

AAA Gold and Bullion's marketing manager, David Perlaza, likens a gold party to a Tupperware party with a twist. Instead of showcasing products, and asking your friends to purchase them, everyone brings their unwanted gold and jewelry, and AAA Gold will buy it on the spot.

"We'll come to your home, and provide instant evaluations of your guests' items," said David. "We even provide the refreshments. All you do is enjoy the company of good friends."

The host doesn't even have to sell her own items to make money. AAA Gold automatically gives the host 10 percent of the total purchases from the evening, making it an easy way to get that extra cash infusion so many of us need these days.

"Recently, we held a party in which the host invited a group of friends and family," David stated. "With the 10 percent, she ended up with an extra $360 in her pocket that night."

Just as if you walked into the storefront location, the AAA Gold and Bullion team members are going to take their time to talk with each guest, making sure everyone understands the process of cash for gold, as well as the formula applied. Of course, they are not going to pressure guests into making an instant decision. It's not their style.

"With the gold parties, we simply want to provide our customers with another avenue that makes it easy and fun to turn their cash into gold," David said.

Are you interested in having a gold party of your own, and making extra money without lifting a finger? Talk to AAA Gold and Bullion about scheduling one today, and find out how to get started. ■

AAA Gold and Bullion buys gold, silver and loose diamonds. They also buy platinum. With three Valley-wide locations, you can visit them in Northeast Mesa, at 1152 N. Power Road, Suite 102. Their hours of operation are Monday through Saturday, from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m., and Sunday by appointment only. You also can find them online at aaagoldandbullion.com and on facebook.com/AAAGoldandBullion.

Memorial Run Honors SPECIAL TEACHER

By Sharon Wozny

What are you doing on March 15, at 7:30 a.m.? Plan on joining friends and family at Red Mountain High School for the inaugural 5K Run (square root of 25) in honor of Steve Rushing, a gentleman dearly missed by the students who loved having him as their math teacher and girls' golf team coach.

In April 2013, Coach Rushing passed away suddenly. He left an empty hole in the lives of many people, including the many colleagues he taught with for more than 25 years. In fact, he was one of the teachers who opened Red Mountain High School in 1988.

"He was a great dude," Coach Brent Krieg said. "He was well loved by all the students. He talked to students, and made a point of letting them know he cared about each one as a person. He always was inquiring about their interests and always encouraging them in whatever endeavor they were undertaking. People flocked to him. He was an all-around wonderful man."

After his passing, track Coach Krieg and Coach Josh Barge decided to establish a 5K run in honor of Coach Rushing, and include a scholarship for the Red Mountain students. Planning began, and with support of the administration, a course was created around the Red Mountain campus, which includes running past Coach Rushing's classroom. Running stores were contacted, and the dream of a 5K run became a reality.

How can you support this important run? Coach Krieg is looking for corporate sponsors, donations, vendors, volunteers and timers, as well as any support to make this morning a success. The cost is $25 in advance, or $35 the day of the race. The fee includes a nylon drawstring backpack, complete with the Red Mountain logo. All ages are welcome. You can walk the course, run the course, and cheer in the stadium, while enjoying the event's festivities.

See you at Red Mountain High School, on March 15, to honor a man who gave his all for the students of Red Mountain High School. "Coach Rushing wouldn't want it any other way," Coach Krieg said. "Why are we running if we are not running for the kids?" ■

For more information, contact Coach Krieg at (480) 308-5616. You also can go to bkrieg@mpsaz.org or www.mpsaz.org/rmhs. Click on Athletics, Teams and Track and Field, where there will be a link for the run with all the information needed for registration.

EDUCATION

SPECIAL TEACHER Receives Special Honor

By Sharon Wozny

When 5-year-old Jayson heard his grandparents congratulate their daughter, Tiffany, he excitedly said, "My mommy won!" The Rodel Foundation of Arizona has selected Tiffany Thompson as a recipient of its Exemplary Teacher Award, representing the best in the state. This honor is bestowed upon a few select teachers who teach in high-needs schools, while demonstrating incredible and consistent growth with their students on standardized tests.

Andrea Erickson, principal at Whitman Elementary School, where Tiffany Thompson teaches fifth grade, nominated Tiffany based on her high growth, professional development, and the impact she is making in the classroom. Tiffany is no stranger to awards. She had received the Rodel Promising Student Teacher award a few years back.

Having only been in the classroom for four years, Tiffany didn't see this award coming. "I always thought you had to have more experience to be nominated," she stated. She attributes her success to the community feeling she establishes in her classroom. Her students respect her as she does them. "They like you, respect you, they will perform for you, and drive hard for you," she said.

Allowing her students to interact and guide each other in their everyday classroom experiences gives them ownership in their learning. In addition, Tiffany creates a mutual feeling of acceptance and tolerance in her classroom. All of this, combined with her love of what she does, makes her classroom a place where the students want to be every day. Her students know she is there for them. They respond by working to their potential, and striving to always do their best for themselves, their families and her.

Tiffany works with a supportive team of teachers. They are often there working early in the morning and planning late into the evening, long after the kids have gone home. Aside from her team, the entire Whitman Elementary School staff also has been celebrating her success with congratulations, flowers and announcements on the morning news.

For the next three years, new Rodel student teachers will have the honor of working with Tiffany, and learning from her. As a Rodel winner, she is committed to having six student teachers over the next three years, one each semester. She wants to use Rodel to make her better at what she loves to do.

"It takes time and patience to be a teacher," Tiffany said, "but it is worth every minute."

Congratulations, Tiffany! We are proud of you. ■

DO NOT GO NEW HOME SHOPPING Without a REALTOR®

By John Karadsheh

After a long break, new home sales finally are on the rise.

This is great news for Arizona, as the construction industry helps fuel growth in our local economy. With renewed confidence in the real estate market, and limited resale inventory, many buyers are, once again, shopping for new homes.

Thinking of buying new? Wait!

Did you know there is no additional fee to the buyer to use a Realtor when buying a new home? Further, there is no discount to the buyer if purchasing a new home without Realtor representation. None. Through a separate marketing budget, the builder typically pays the Realtor's fees. In other words, the builder is giving you representation for free—if you choose.

Of course, there is a catch. Your Realtor must accompany you on your first visit to the models. It is clearly stated on the model showroom door, so you won't forget. If you walk through that door alone, and start touring the models, you are on your own.

Here are a few very important reasons why you should use a Realtor when buying new (other than the obvious reason—it's free).

Your Realtor will be your representative and advocate. A Realtor is trained to help you through the entire new home building process, from negotiating the contract (yes, it can be negotiated), to monitoring the transaction right through closing. Your Realtor will help watch out for your financial interest.

It is the builder's motivation to sell each lot in the subdivision, even the least desirable lots. It is the Realtor's objective to help the buyer choose a lot with minimal drawbacks and best for future resale. During our recent recession, homes on non-desirable lots had a much, much harder time selling. Allow your Realtor to help you weigh the pros and cons of the lots available, and make a sound investment.

A Realtor can help you walk through the model, and recommend ideas and options to help you design a home best suited to your needs and good for resale. When getting ready to resell their homes, many of my clients have regretted the design choices they made when they chose their options.

A Realtor can help you enhance your new home investment. How should you best spend builder incentives to create the greatest value for your home? What is more important to upgrade—cabinets or countertops? Tile or appliances?

Your Realtor also will be there to represent you during your building inspections. Experienced Realtors have been on many building sites, and may help you see issues you might otherwise miss.

Your Realtor is working for you. The salesperson at the new model office is working for the builder. Who do you think has your best interest at heart?

My wife and I live in a Blandford home, which we built and customized. I have advocated for my clients through the new build process in subdivisions from here to Laveen, and to Desert Ridge and back. I have even worked with T.W. Lewis and local developer Amberwood Homes on special investment projects. Even if you have already started with a builder, I am happy to answer any new build questions you may have. But please... don't go shopping alone. ■

ORGANIZING

Let's Talk ABOUT CAROL

By Nancy Nemitz

My sister, Carol, was driving her children to their sports practices when she saw a small, low, white sign stuck in one of her neighbor's lawns.

The sign read, Wee Ding Service, and included a phone number.

Carol kept repeating aloud, "Wee Ding Service? Wee Ding Service? What in the heck is a Wee Ding Service?"

Let this be a lesson. Capitalize the wrong word, or put a space where there shouldn't be one, and you have a completely different meaning. In case you aren't getting this, the sign should have read Weeding Service.

I've got lots of stories about my sister, Carol. If you'd like to hear more, send me an e-mail at nancy@createthespace.com—Subject: Carol. She doesn't live here, so she won't even know we're talking about her. ■

MONITOR YOUR HOME from anywhere in the world

By Dawn Abbey

Suppose, as a native of Alberta, Canada, you recently purchased a winter home in Mountain Bridge, and sometime in July, when you're back in the cool northern climes, you hear news of home invasions or vandalism in the Northeast Valley.

Or maybe you're just away on vacation, and you hear the same report. Either way, you wonder, "Is my house OK?" No worries. Just check your computer. In seconds, you can see your pool, your front yard, and the entire interior of your Northeast Mesa home—all with video monitoring.

"Current technology allows you to monitor your property from anywhere you have Internet access," said Pete Sachs, owner of Kodiak, a division of The Home Security Company, Inc. "And with your smartphone, you have access to your security system, with all the functions of your touchpad at home."

Longtime Mesa residents, Pete and Gail Sachs, have provided security systems and other low-voltage systems in the Valley and statewide for more than 20 years. Low-voltage technologies include such things as burglar alarms, video cameras, computer networks, central vacuum systems, multi-media home entertainment systems, television/telephone, structured cabling, and more. No job is too large or too small. From a complete audio/video system in the family room, to rock speakers added to your pool area, for that resort-style atmosphere, or perhaps just adding a phone jack in your office, Kodiak can help.

Generally, most homes are pre-wired for security systems and speakers during construction. So, the expense of installing the equipment is pretty reasonable. "Kodiak is unique because we are one of the very few alarm companies not requiring homeowners to purchase long-term, expensive monitoring contracts for their alarm systems," Pete said. "However, we do offer professional monitoring with a local central station. We also can set you up for self-monitoring with your smartphone, as previously mentioned."

For a large majority of homeowners in the Mountain Bridge community, theirs are summer homes. "Some of our clients have asked us to be their personal concierge, since they do not yet know many people in the area," Pete stated. "What better then a company required to have annual background checks and be fingerprinted on an annual basis? Our company is very personable, and we take your security seriously," he continued. "We review daily reports from the central station, and if I see, for instance, your system has not tested for a couple nights, we contact you so the problem can be resolved."

Kodiak is a one-stop shop for any type of low-voltage needs. "We carry the most respected brands, and can do anything from a simple home alarm system, to complex monitors and remote controls via smartphone apps and computers," Pete said. "It's a matter of what the homeowner wants and how extensive the needs." ■

Give Pete, at Kodiak, a call for a free estimate at (480) 984-6813, or visit the Web site at kodiakaz.com. Send an e-mail to kodiakaz@msn.com.

Keep It Clean with Carnation Home Cleaning

By Kimberly Searles

When it comes to house cleaning, the days of the mop and bucket are long gone.

"There is so much more to proper house cleaning than just grabbing a towel and some chemicals," said Eugena Bring, owner of Carnation Home Cleaning. "You have to understand the mythology and science of cleaning. Proper cleaning and maintenance of a home are vital for disease prevention and the reduction of indoor air pollution, which is often more threatening to human health than outdoor air pollution," she continued. "A well-executed cleaning also can protect the physical structure of a home and its furnishings."

That's just what Eugena learned awhile back when she took a home cleaning technician (HCT) certification course, led by the Institute of Inspection Cleaning and Restoration Certification (IICRC). Over two days, Eugena was impressed by the importance of incorporating science into cleaning homes. In fact, so impressed by what she learned, Eugena felt it was crucial for her entire staff to go through the course. Therefore, that is exactly what they all did this past January.

"The surfaces in our homes have changed so much over the years, which means they need to be cleaned differently," stated Eugena. "The constant new surface changes in homes require us to have an ongoing education program."

As a result, Carnation Home Cleaning can boast it is the first cleaning company, not only in Arizona, but also in the industry, to have an entire staff of IICRC-certified house cleaning technicians.

Having the entire staff go through the technician certification training means more than bragging rights. As a business owner, it's about Eugena's obligation to her clients to provide the best and most knowledgeable professionals possible. She also believes she is obligated to give her staff the most accurate information necessary to deliver on Carnation's promise of cleaning for a safer and healthier home environment.

"It all boils down to education," stated Eugena. "I thought I knew what clean was before attending the IICRC training. Boy, was I wrong. For those with health concerns, keeping up with the latest advances in technique and technology takes on even greater importance for us."

In today's world, a true professional in any field must be an expert.

Traditionally, cleaning has not been considered a glamorous profession. Throughout history, people who clean have not been as highly esteemed as other professionals. Science is changing this perception. People increasingly recognize the important relationship between clean environments and human health. Science has shown clean environments make people feel better, helping them become more productive.

In fact, Eugena and the team at Carnation Home Cleaning are totally dedicated to educating others and continuing the growth of Carnation's staff on the health benefits of a clean home environment. Therefore, every six months, they will be hosting HCT classes here in the Valley. These classes are open to all cleaning companies and the public. Anyone will be welcome to attend. ■

Carnation Home Cleaning services residential homes and small offices exclusively. Services include hygienic cleaning and effective sanitizing of surfaces, as well as the use of appropriate cleaning agents and procedures to ensure good health and prevent cross contamination. Give them a call at (602) 386-3935, or visit them online at www.carnationhomecleaninginc.com.
